

Train-the-Trainer Program

The Prosci Train-the-Trainer Program helps you establish a world-class change management training program within your organization by enabling you to deliver Prosci's engaging role-based training programs internally. By becoming a trainer, you improve the overall change-readiness of your organization while reducing the long-term costs of change management training.

Train-the-Trainer Program Level 1 focuses on core role-based training programs for key support roles and teams within your organization. Level 2 enables you to expand your reach and teach the Change Management Practitioner Program and Change Management Sponsor Briefing. The Level 1 and Level 2 programs are available in both in-person and virtual instructor-led formats.

Who Should Attend

This program is exclusively for Prosci Certified Change Practitioners who are ready to start deploying change management training throughout their organizations. This program is not, however, designed for consultants wanting to deliver Prosci change management programs internally or at client organizations.

Program Highlights

The Train-the-Trainer Program prepares you for your role as an internal change management trainer and develops your organization's change management function:

- Elevates your organization's change management mindset, skillset and toolset
- Prepares you to equip key individuals across your organization to play their unique roles in helping projects succeed
- Provides the resources needed to effectively deliver engaging, unforgettable learning experiences in your organization
- Enables you to teach both in-person and virtual instructor-led program variations, plus deliver training programs to align with your organization's culture and needs
- Provides facilitator guides and ongoing access to Prosci Instructor Hub

Learning Objectives

During the Train-the-Trainer Level 1 and Level 2 Programs, you will:

- Learn the purpose, objectives, intended audience and structure of Prosci's role-based programs
- Recall key concepts and definitions in core content
- Prepare and deliver specific modules from Prosci's role-based programs
- Receive feedback and recommendations for improving delivery
- Understand key content and resources needed to facilitate role-based programs
- Make the connection between developing key roles and building organizational change capability and agility

Train-the-Trainer Program Level 1

This two-day program prepares practitioners to internally teach role-based programs for front-line employees, people managers, and project managers and teams. At least some facilitation knowledge or experience is highly recommended. Prerequisite: Prosci Change Management Certification within the last the last three years.
